COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

This embraces a thorough course of study in Book Keeping, both by Single and Double Entry, in its application to Wholesale and Retail Merchandising, Commission, Rail-Roading, Banking, &c.; also Parson's Laws of Business.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of the Winter and Summer Terms.

Students are required, at the end of each month, to pass a written examination on the advancement made in studies during that period. No student, either when first entering the school, or afterward, is allowed to enter any Grade or Department, who cannot pass a satisfactory examination, on the preceding studies of the course.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given frequently on Literary and Scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus when the subject requires them.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Grammar and the High Schools, each, have a Literary Society connected with them.

GOVERNMENT.

The Discipline of the school is intended to be mild and firm. As far as possible students are taught to govern themselves. A regular record is kept of the deportment of each student, a copy of which will be furnished to parents and guardians when desired. Those, whose influence is injurious to the school, will not be admitted a second time, and whenever circumstances require it they will be dismissed.

GENERAL ITEMS.

This School is under the control of the Society of Friends, and Students will be required in company with the Teachers to attend meeting for Divine Worship in the middle of each week. They are also expected to attend at some place of worship on the First Day of the week. Scripture recitations are required of all the School, and each student should be provided with a Bible. Students are required to observe regular hours for study during the evening.

☞ Penmanship taught on scientific principles.

Students, who complete either of the prescribed courses of study, will be entitled to a Diploma signed by the Instructors and the Clerk of the Committee having the school in charge.

☞ Text books and stationery are kept in the School, and furnished to students at reduced prices.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of the Winter and Summer Terms.

Students are required also, at the end of each month, to pass a written examination in the advancement made in studies during that period. No student, either when first entering the school, or afterwards, is allowed to enter any Grade or Department, who can not pass a satisfactory examination on the preceeding studies of the course.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given frequently on Literary and Scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with Chemical and Philosophical Apparatus, when the subject requires them.

LITERARY SOCIETY.

The High School has a Literary Society connected with it. The Students of the other Departments receive instruction, weekly, in English Composition

GOVERNMENT.

The Discipline of the school is intended to be mild and firm. As far as possible students are taught to govern themselves, and at the same time influences for good are brought to bear upon the proper developement of character. A regular record is kept of the deportment of each student, a copy of which will be furnished to parents and guardians when desired. Those, whose influence is injurious to the school, will not be admitted a second time; and whenever circumstances require it they will be dismissed.

GENERAL ITEMS.

This School is under the control of the Society of Friends; and Students will be required in company with the Teachers to attend meeting for Divine Worship in the middle of each week. They are also expected to attend at some place of worship on the First Day of the Week. Scripture recitations are required of all the School, and each student should be provided with a Bible. Students are required to observe regular hours for study during the evening.

LIBRARY.

In the School is a small but valuable Library of standard works to which students have access on the payment of a small sum yearly.

VACATIONS.

There will be a vacation of two weeks following the close of the Winter Term; and one of ten weeks following the close of the academic year.

RATES OF TUITION.

Primary Department.

Grade C 40 cts per week, Rate per quarter of 12 weeks, $4.80.
Grade B 45 " " " " " $5.40.

The 3d Term ends 6th Mo. 23d, 1871. — In session fifteen weeks.

In arranging the Course of Study the 1st and 2d Terms are considered as forming but one session; and students who wish to advance with their classes will find it highly important to begin at the opening of the First Term. Students will be received at any time, when the school is not full, and tuition will be charged from the time of entering until the close of the Term.

No deduction will be made for absence except in cases of protracted sickness. Prompt payment is expected,—by strangers in advance;—by resident citizens, at the close of the Term.

Ten per cent. interest will be charged, hereafter, on all accounts not settled within thirty days after they are due.

N. B.—Attention is specially directed to the above regulations, as strict adherence to them is expected.

REMARKS UPON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

Much care has been taken in arranging a course of study so as to provide for those who wish to prepare for College, as well as for those who do not anticipate the completion of more than an academic course. It will be noticed that in Literature and Natural Science, the course is but little shorter than that laid down in most colleges, while a sufficient amount of Mathematics and Latin has been retained to afford good mental discipline, and also to meet most of the practical demands of a business life. Opportunity will be afforded to pursue those studies further whenever classes sufficiently large can be formed.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of the 2d and 3d Terms. Students are frequently required to pass written examinations on the advancement made during previous portions of the Term. No student, either when first entering school, or afterwards, will be allowed to enter any Grade or Department who can not pass a satisfactory examination on the preceding studies of the course.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given frequently on literary and scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with chemical and philosophical apparatus when the subject requires them.

The Lecture Association, formed by the citizens, furnishes opportunity for hearing some of the most distinguished lectures of the United States. Anna E. Dickinson is among those engaged for the coming winter.

LIBRARY.

There is a valuable library of several hundred volumes in connection with the school, to which students have access upon the payment of a very small fee. Two thousand dollars have been subscribed by the citizens of the vicinity for the purpose of increasing the library, five hundred dollars of which will be expended the ensuing year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding the past year has ranged from $3.00 to $3.25 per week. There is a boarding-house near the school, the rooms of which will be rented to young women who wish to board themselves. To these, the cost need not exceed $1.50 or $2.00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The proprietors of the building or the Principal of the school will attend to furnishing wood and provisions when it is desired. There are some rooms in the village which can be rented by young men desirous of boarding themselves. The boarding house will be under the care of competent Superintendents.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The school is under the care of the Society of Friends, and students will be expected to attend their Sabbath School and meeting for worship, unless they attend those of some other denomination. Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

Students are required to observe study hours during the evening. Evening parties and late hours strictly prohibited. A majority of those taking boarders have agreed to assist the Principal in carrying these regulations into effect, so that parties from a distance who may place their children in this school, may rely upon having them under their watchful care and a home influence.

A gentleman who resides in the village owns an excellent Telescope with a four and a half inch Object Glass, and six feet focal distance; and arrangements have been made with him for classes in Astronomy to have the privilege of using the instrument.

The are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be retained in the school whose influence is known to have a corrupting and immoral tendency.

LOCATION.

The school is situated in the village of SPICELAND, Henry county, Indiana, two and a half miles north of Coffin's Station, on the Columbus and Indianapolis Railroad. A hack meets the train twice each day. Mails are received daily.

The School is under the care of the following Committee, appointed by Spiceland Monthly Meeting:

SOLOMON MACY, ALBERT NEWBY,
CALEB JOHNSON, J. P. BOGUE.

ALBERT NEWBY, Clerk.

Two thousand dollars have been subscribed by the citizens of the vicinity, for the purpose of increasing the library, five hundred dollars of which will be expended the ensuing year.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

In addition to the Literary Exercises in the school, there are two permanent Literary Societies, one conducted by the young men, and the other by the young ladies of the Academy.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding the past year has ranged from $3 00 to $3 50 per week. There is a boarding-house near the school, the rooms of which will be rented to young women who wish to board themselves. To these, the cost need not exceed $1 50 or $2 00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. Elocution and Composition attended to throughout the whole course.

Those who wish to prepare for college will substitute Greek in the last two years of the course for some of the studies in Literature and Natural Science.

SCIENTIFIC COURSE.

In this, equivalent studies in the Higher Mathematics, Ancient and Modern history, or the German language will be substituted for Latin in the classical course.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete either of the Courses of Study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees having the school in charge.

Opportunity is afforded for studying Analytical Chemistry. A small additional charge is made for Apparatus and Chemicals.

RATES OF TUITION.

High School—2d and 3d Years	$1 00 per week.
High School—1st Year	85 per week.
Grammar School	75 per week.
Intermediate Department	60 per week.
Primary Department—Grade A	45 per week.
Primary Department—Grade B	40 per week.
Primary Department—Grade C	35 per week.

CALENDAR FOR 1872 AND 1873.

The 1st Term begins 9th Mo. 2d, 1872.	In session 5 weeks.
The 1st Term ends 10th Mo. 4th, 1872.
The 2d Term begins 10th Mo. 7th, 1872.	In session 20 weeks.
The 2d Term ends 2d Mo. 20th, 1873.

Spring Vacation Two Weeks.

The 3d Term begins 3d Mo 9th, 1873.	In session 15 weeks.
The 3d Term ends 6th Mo. 19th, 1873.

In arranging the Course the 1st and 2d Terms are considered as forming but one session; and students who wish to advance with their classes will find it highly important to begin at the opening of the First Term. Students will be received at any time, when the school is not, and tuition will be charged from the time of entering until the close of the Term.

No deduction will be made for absence except in cases of protracted sickness. Prompt payment is expected,—by strangers in advance;—by resident citizens, at the close of the Term.

Ten per cent. interest will be charged, hereafter, on all accounts not settled within thirty days after they are due.

N. B.—Attention is especially directed to the above regulations, as strict adherence to them is expected.

REMARKS UPON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

Much care has been taken in arranging a course of study so as to provide for those who wish to prepare for college, as well as for those who do not anticipate the completion of more than an academic course. It will be noticed that in Literature and Natural Science, the course is but little shorter than that laid down in most colleges, while a sufficient amount of Mathematics and Latin has been retained to afford good mental discipline and also to meet most of the practical demands of a business life. Opportunity will be afforded to pursue those studies further whenever classes sufficiently large can be formed.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of the second and third terms. Students are frequently required to pass written examinations on the advancement made during previous portions of the term. No student, either when first entering school, or afterwards, will be allowed to enter any Grade or Department who cannot pass a satisfactory examination on the preceding studies of the course.

INCORPORATION AND ENDOWMENT,

Measures have been taken to have the school legally incorporated. Trustees are appointed by Spiceland Monthly Meeting who will have the supervision of the Institution, and management of the Endowment Fund. Efforts will be made to increase this fund so as to place the school upon a permanent basis and to reduce the price of tuition.

LECTURES.

Lectures are given frequently on literary and scientific subjects. Those on Natural science are illustrated by experiments with chemical and philosophical apparatus when the subject requires them. A Lecture Association, organized by the citizens, affords an opportunity each year of hearing some of the most distinguished lecturers in the country.

LIBRARY.

There is a valuable library of several hundred volumes in connection with the school, to which students have access upon the payment of a very small fee. New books are added to it every few weeks.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

In addition to the Literary Exercises in the school, there are four permanent Literary Societies, two conducted by the young men, and the others by the young ladies of the academy. A library has been started which already contains several valuable books. A reading room will probably be established the ensuing year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding the past year has ranged from $3 00 to $3 50 per week. There is a boarding-house near the school, the rooms of which are rented to young women who wish to board themselves. To these, the cost need not exceed $1 50 or $2 00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The proprietors of the building or the Principal of the school will atttend to furnishing wood and provisions when it is desired. The house is under the care of competent Superintendents. Rooms can be rented in the village by students who wish to board themselves. For those who board in this way the average cost has been less than $1 25 per week. The club system of boarding has been successfully tried the past year. By this method the cost of living, including room rent, is from $1 60 to $2 00 per week. The whole expense of attending school one year, including tuition, need not exceed $125.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The school is under the care of the Society of Friends, and students are expected to attend their Sabbath School and meeting for worship, unless they attend those of some other denomination. Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

Students are required to observe study hours during the evening. Evening parties and late hours are strictly forbidden. A majority of those taking boarders have agreed to assist the Principal in carrying these regulations into effect, so that parties from a distance who may place their children in this school, may rely upon having them under watchful care and a home influence.

A gentlemen who resides in the village owns an excellent Telescope with a four and a half inch Object Glass, and six feet focal distance; and arrangements have been made with him for classes in Astronomy to have the privilege of using the instrument.

A new school house has been recently erected, a laboratory opened and other improvements made, which add much to the efficiency of the school.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be retained in the school whose influence is known to have a corrupting and immoral tendency.

LOCATION.

The school is situated in the village of Spiceland, Henry County, Indiana, two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad. A hack meets the trains twice each day. Mails are received daily.

The school is under the care of the following Board of Trustees, appointed by Spiceland Monthly Meeting:

J. P. BOGUE,
SOLOMON MACY,
CALEB JOHNSON,
TIMOTHY WILSON,
ASA C. DAVIS,
JESSE JORDON,
CLARKSON DAVIS,
President of the Board.

Vacation one week.

The 3rd Term begins 3 mo., 30th, 1874, } in session 12 weeks.
The 3rd Term closes 6 mo., 20th, 1874,

Students will be received at any time when the school is not full, and tuition will be charged from the time of entering until the close of the term.

No deduction will be made for absence, except in cases of protracted sickness.

Rates of Tuition must be paid before entering school.

Books and Stationery, when furnished, must be paid for in cash.

The above regulations will be strictly observed.

Remarks upon the Course of Study.

Normal Classes will be formed for the first six weeks of the Autumn term, in the Grammar School studies. for the benefit of those preparing to teach.

Normal Classes will also be formed for the same purpose in the Spring term.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public Examinations occur at the close of each term. Students are frequently required to pass written examinations on their studies.

No student will be allowed to enter any Grade or Department who cannot pass a satisfactory examination on the preceding studies of the course.

INCORPORATION AND ENDOWMENT.

The School has been legally incorporated, and is managed by Trustees, who are appointed by the Society of Friends. An endowment fund of $3,000 has already been raised and placed at interest, and measures have lately been taken to have it materially increased.

LECTURES.

Lectures are frequently given on Literary and Scientific subjects. Those on Natural Science are illustrated by experiments with Philosophical apparatus when the subject requires them.

A Lecture Association affords an opportunity, each year, of hearing some of the most distinguished lecturers in the country.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, of nearly Two Thousand Volumes, to which additions are constantly being made.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies, to which two of the above Libraries belong. These Societies give exhibitions at the close of each term.

BOARDING.

The cost of Boarding ranges from $3.00 to $3.50 per week.

There is a Boarding House near the School, the rooms of which are rented to young women who wish to board themselves. Board need not cost these to exceed $1.50 or $2.00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The Principal of the School will attend to furnishing wood and provisions when it is desired. The house is under the care of competent superintendents.

Rooms can be rented in the village by students who wish to board themselves. For those who board in this way the average cost has been less than $1.25 per week.

The club system of boarding has been successfully tried the past two years. By this method the cost of living, including room rent, is from $1.60 to $2.00 per week.

The whole expense of attending school one year, including tuition, need not exceed $125.00.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The School is under the care of the Society of Friends, and students are expected to attend their Sabbath School and Meeting for Worship, unless they attend some other denomination. Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

Students are required to observe study hours during the evening.

Evening parties and late hours are strictly forbidden.

A majority of those taking boarders have agreed to assist the Principal in carrying these regulations into effect, so that parties from a distance, who may place their children in this School may rely upon having them under watchful care and home influence.

Students in Astronomy can have access to an excellent Telescope with a four and one-half inch Object Glass and six feet focal distance.

Within the last year a Geological Cabinet has been added, and additions to it are frequent.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be retained in the school, whose influence is known to have a corrupting and immoral tendency.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete either course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees, having the School in charge.

THE NEXT TERM.

The Managers can assure the public that they have already engaged experienced Teachers for every department of the School.

LOCATION.

The School is situated in the village of Spiceland, Henry county, Indiana, two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad. A Hack meets the trains twice each day. Mails are received daily.

The First Term ends 12th Mo., 25th, 1874. } In session 15 weeks.

VACATION 1 WEEK.

The 2d Term begins 1st Mo., 4th, 1875.
The 2d Term ends 3d Mo., 26th, 1875. } In session 12 weeks.

VACATION 1 WEEK.

The 3d Term begins 4th Mo., 5th, 1875.
The 3d Term ends 6th Mo., 25th, 1875. } In session 12 weeks.

The Normal Institute begins 8th Mo., 3d, 1874.
The Normal Institute ends 9th Mo., 4th, 1874.

Students will be received at any time when the School is not full, and tuition will be charged from the time of entering until the close of the Term.

Owing to the great difficulty heretofore of making collections, no scholar will be admitted into the School until tuition rates have been paid.

Books and stationery, when furnished, must be paid for in cash.

REMARKS UPON COURSE OF STUDY.

Especial pains will be taken to prepare students for Teaching by a thorough and systematic drill in the Common School Branches.

EXAMINATIONS.

Public examinations occur at the close of each Term. Students are frequently required to pass written examinations on their studies.

BOOK KEEPING.

A room is set apart especially for a Commercial course, in which the art of Book Keeping, in its various forms, is thoroughly taught. Those who take the Commercial course will be charged $20 00 for the First Term of 15 weeks, and $15 00 for each of the other Terms. Students can take one or two studies in connection with the course.

APPARATUS.

In connection with the Labratory, Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus afford opportunities for numerous experiments, and students of natural science are instructed in the methods of making such experiments. Students can also have accession to an excellent Telescope. There is also an interesting Geological Cabinet in connection with the School.

LECTURES.

A Lecture Association affords an opportunity of hearing some of the most distinguished Lecturers in the country. Numerous Lectures are also given in connection with the School.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the School, of about Two Thousand Volumes, to which additions are constantly being made.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies, to which two of the above Libraries belong. These Societies give exhibitions at the close of each Term.

NORMAL INSTITUTE.

The attention of Teachers in this and surrounding counties is invited to the Normal Institute to be held in August. No pains will be spared to make the course of study both interesting and profitable.

LOCATION.

The School is situated in the village of Spiceland, Henry Co., Indiana, 2½ miles north of Dunreith,—the latter place situated on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railroad. A hack meets the trains twice each day. Mails are received daily.

BOARDING.

The cost of Boarding ranges from $3 00 to $3 25 per week. There is a Boarding-house connected with the School, the rooms of which are rented to young women who wish to board themselves. Board need not cost these to exceed $1 50 or $2 00 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs and a table, are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The Principal will attend to furnising wood and provisions if desired. The House is under the care of competent Superintendents. A great many Students rent rooms in the village and board themselves. The cost of board by this method need not be more than $1 25 per week. The club system of boarding has also been tried with success for several years. The price of board may be considerably reduced by this method. The Principal will give his personal attention to procuring boarding places and rooms for all who may need his assistance.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The School is under the care of the Society of Friends, and Students are expected to attend their Sabbath School and Meeting for Worship, or those of some other denomination.

Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

Evening parties and late hours are strictly forbidden.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be retained in the School whose influence is known to have a corrupting and immoral tendency.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete their course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees, having the School in charge.

BOARD OF MANAGERS.

J. P. BOGUE,	ASA C. DAVIS.
SOLOMON MACY.	JESSE GORDON.
CALEB JOHNSON.	JAS. COCHRAN.

TIMOTHY WILSON, President of the Board.

All communications in regard to the School, should be addressed to

TIMOTHY WILSON,
Spiceland, Henry County, Indiana.

FORMS OF LEGACY.

BEQUEST OF PERSONAL ESTATE.

I, ——, of the County of ——, and State of ——, give and bequeath to the Trustees of Spiceland Academy Endowment Fund, and to their successors, the sum of —— to be added to the said Fund, and the income to be applied to the uses and purposes thereof, as stipulated in the Articles of Incorporation.

DEVISE OF REAL ESTATE.

I, —— of the County of ——, give and devise to the Trustees of Spiceland Academy Endowment Fund, and to their successors, the following Real Estate, to-wit: Together with all appurtenances thereunto belonging, to have, and to hold to them and their successors forever in trust, for the sole use and benefit of Spiceland Academy, situated in Spiceland, Henry County, Indiana,—and upon this trust to dispose of and convey the same in such manner as said Trustees, or their successors shall direct—and all the proceeds accruing from such sale or conveyance shall be added to said Endowment Fund.

The Spiceland Reporter,

A LITERARY FAMILY NEWSPAPER.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

$1.50 PER YEAR, IN ADVANCE.

THE REPORTER has just ended the first year of its existence, and is firmly established on a solid foundation, having the best correspondents and local correspondents of any paper in Eastern Indiana. Among the regular contributors to the columns of THE REPORTER, we may mention

LOUISE M. COFFIN, PROF. DAVIS, WILL WESTFERN, PROF. N. NEWBY, R. T. REED, "CAPTAIN JACK," and others.

These are all regular contributors, and their letters have become familiar to every reader of the paper.

Occasional letters from old students, and graduates of the Academy, who are now located in various sections of the Union, reach us and are full of interest to every one who has been a student here.

The local news of Spiceland and vicinity is prepared with great care, so that any one who feels an interest in Spiceland, can gain a better knowledge of the town by reading the paper than in any other way.

THE REPORTER is the organ of no party; the defender of no political ring; the advocate of no creed; but whatever is pure,—whatever is good, will find in its columns a ready friend,—upholding the Right bravely, denouncing the Wrong fearlessly, treating all things with Charity.

REMARKS ON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

Believing that a true education, which is a proper development of the mind, can only be obtained by diligent study and untiring industry, this institution will give thorough and systematic instruction in all of the departments, "No royal road to learning" or cramming process will be used, and students will be classified according to what they know and not by what they may have studied, and none will be permitted to pass to the advanced classes until they shall have completed the preliminary work.

A completion of the Grammar School course will give students such proficiency as will enable them to proceed advantageously with the studies of the High School, and at the same time it is believed that they are well adapted to the wants of those who do not desire to enter on a more extended course of study. The High School course is full and comprehensive and little inferior to most colleges, and students completing it will be qualified to fill almost any position in life.

There are daily recitations in Latin throughout three years, and the number and variety of Latin and Greek selections from the ancient authors, including Cæsar, Virgil, Cicero, Xenophon, etc., are considered a sufficient foundation for a thorough classical scholarship.

The course in Chemistry includes qualitative analysis with actual work in the laboratory, and the classes in Chemistry and Natural Philosophy have access to a full line of chemical and philosophic apparatus; illustrations and experiments are performed before the class whenever the subject requires them. The study of astronomy and surveying, in addition to the text book, will include oral instruction on methods of calculations and observations, and a practical knowledge of the use of the instruments, such as the compass, theodolite, and telescope. It is the design to make the study of German of practical use to those who pursue it; particular attention is paid to a correct pronunciation; the grammar and idioms will be studied in connection with some text book, and will be followed by translations, compositions, and conversations, the language being used as far as possible during recitations.

In addition to the class drill in Rhetoric, students are required to have regular exercises in essay writing and recitation under the direction of the teachers of the different departments.

The work in English Literature is principally biographical, but particular attention is paid to direct students to such a course of reading as will secure a correct literary taste. This is greatly facilitated by the excellent libraries to which all the students have access.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

The course of study in this department is divided into three divisions—Theoretical, Junior and Senior—and, with proper application, may be completed in from three to four months. In the Theoretical Division the student is instructed in Orthography, Penmanship, Commercial Correspondence, Mathematics, and the elements of Bookkeeping, the forms and uses of business papers, such as Notes, Checks, Drafts, Bills of Exchange, Orders, Receipts, Bills of Lading, etc.

In the Junior or Practical Division, the student is furnished with a capital of cash, merchandise, real estate, etc., and then proceeds to actual work—buys and sells merchandise, makes deposits in bank, gives and receives notes, checks, drafts, receipts, bills of exchange, acceptances, etc. Here the student becomes familiar with the various forms of Bookkeeping, such as apply to wholesale and retail merchandising, forwarding, commission, etc.

The Senior Division embraces thorough instruction in the subject of Banking and in the various departments of Commercial Law.

Special attention is given to the settlement of partnerships, averaging accounts, etc.

Business Penmanship is taught daily throughout the Commercial Course, and those desiring it will be instructed in Ornamental Penmanship and Pen Drawing.

THE NORMAL TERM.

As the educational standard of the country is elevated a demand is created for teachers who have had special instruction in the science and art of teaching. The time has passed when a knowledge of the necessary legal branches is deemed sufficient qualification for the teacher of the common school. The individual who assumes the responsibility of guiding the development of the human mind should avail himself of every opportunity for receiving that peculiar normal instruction which is designed to render his work in the school room most efficient. Teaching is no longer an occupation, it is a profession; a profession which demands for its successful accomplishment as studied a preparation as that required for medicine, law or the ministry.

The work contemplated at the special normal term, which begins July 27, may be briefly outlined as follows: 1st, A review of all the more difficult points in each of the legal branches; 2d, A short course in the elements of the natural sciences, as usually pursued in the High Schools of the State; 3d, A course of professional instruction in which the science and art of Pedagogics will be presented and a discussion of all the minutiæ of school room work.

RATES OF TUITION.

High School—Second and third years,	$1 00 per week
Commercial Department,	1 00 per week
High School—First year,	85 per week
Grammar School,	75 per week
Intermediate Department,	60 per week
Primary Department,	40 per week
Normal Institute,	5 00 per term

Students will be received at any time when the school is not full, and tuition will be charged from the time of entering.

Rates of tuition must be paid in advance, counting from the time of entry until the close of the current term, and no deductions will be made for absence of any kind.

MUSIC.

An accomplished teacher of music will give lessons each term on both piano and organ. Those who take music lessons will be charged from $8 to $10 per term extra.

LOCATION.

The school is situated in the village of Spiceland, Henry county, Indiana, two and one half miles north of Dunreith and eight miles south of New Castle. Dunreith is on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St Louis Railroad, and New Castle is on the Chicago branch of the same road. A hack meets the trains twice each day at Dunreith, and after July 1 once each day at New Castle. Mails are received daily.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent and well sustained literary societies in connection with the school—The Lucernians, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and the Glisco Societies, by the gentlemen.

LIBRARIES AND READING ROOM.

There are three libraries, two belonging to the literary societies and one to the Academy Association, which contain about two thousand volumes, and additions are constantly being made. A new library building and reading room are in contemplation, and will doubtless be erected during the summer.

LECTURES.

A lecture association affords an opportunity for hearing the most distinguished lecturers in the country. Numerous lectures are also given in connection with the school.

APPARATUS AND CABINET.

The institution is supplied with a full line of chemical and philosophical apparatus and an interesting geological cabinet. The students have access to an excellent telescope and several private cabinets of rare value and interest.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding ranges from $3 to $3 25 per week. There is a boarding house connected with the school, the rooms of which are rented to young women who wish to board themselves. Board need not cost these to exceed $1 50 or $2 per week. A stove, bedstead, two chairs, and a table are provided for each room, the occupants furnishing such other articles as they may need. The Principal will attend to furnishing wood and provisions if desired. The house is under the care of competent Superintendents. A great many students rent rooms in the village and board themselves. The cost of board by this method need not be more than $1 25 per week. The club system of boarding has also been tried with success for several years. The price of board may be considerably reduced by this method. The Principal will give his personal attention to procuring boarding places and rooms for all who may need his assistance.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The school is under the care of the Society of Friends, and students are expected to attend their Sabbath-School and meeting for worship, or those of some other denomination.

Each student should be furnished with a Bible.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

Evening parties and late hours are strictly forbidden.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student will be retained in the school whose influence is known to have a corrupting and immoral tendency.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees, having the school in charge.

Remarks.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

In the Latin and Greek Languages, thorough drill on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of verbs, is given, and also on the application of rules of construction. The amount of work in these Languages will be the same as that required by the college they propose to enter. Greek may be substituted for some of the studies in the last two years of the course.

Classes will be formed in the French and German Languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

Special Departments.

Advanced Course in Chemistry: This includes Qualitative Analysis and practical work in the Laboratory.

Civil Engineering.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling and the practical use of Transit and Level.

Commercial Department.

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Bookkeeping.

Normal Department.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter; then instruction will be given in methods of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education.

Rates of Tuition.

Primary Department—Grade C	35 cents per week.
Primary Department—Grade B	40 cents per week.
Primary Department—Grade A	45 cents per week
Intermediate Department	60 cents per week.
Grammar School	75 cents per week.
High School—1st year	85 cents per week.
High School—2d and 3d years	$1 00 per week.
Normal Department	85 cents per week.
Commercial Department	$1 00 per week.

As soon as the student has been examined and assigned to his classes, settlement will then be expected, either by cash or note.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health.

In event of sickness notice must in all cases be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

Literary Societies.

There are three Literary Societies connected with the school:—The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Glisco Societies, by the gentlemen.

Libraries.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Several books of reference will be added next year.

Lectures.

A Lecture Association affords an opportunity for hearing many distinguished speakers. Lectures are frequently given in connection with the school.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also with a Geological Cabinet, containing many valuable specimens.

Boarding.

The cost of boarding, the past year, has been about $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $2.00 per week.

Location.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, Henry County, Indiana. Dunreith, two and a half miles distant, on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis R. R., is the nearest railway station. A hack meets the trains twice each day at Dunreith, and once at New Castle.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge, than upon rapidity of advancement.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

The High School Building has recently been enlarged, and much better accomodations are furnished than formerly.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students whose conduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study will be furnished with a Diploma signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Remarks.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a College course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for College.

In the Latin and Greek languages, thorough drill on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of verbs, is given, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work in these languages will be the same as that required by the College which students propose to enter. Greek may be substituted for some of the studies in the last two years of the course.

Classes will be formed in the French and German languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

Special Departments.

Advanced Course in Chemistry: This includes Qualitative Analysis and practical work in the Laboratory.

Civil Engineering.

This Course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of Transit and Level.

Commercial Department.

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Book-keeping.

Normal Department.

Special attention will be given to the training of Teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter, then instruction will be given in methods of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education.

Rates of Tuition.

		If paid in advance.
Primary Department—Grade C	35 cents per week	30 cents.

High School—2d and 3d years	$1.00 per week	90 cents.
Normal Department	85 cents per week
Commercial Department	90 cents per week	85 cents

As soon as the student has been examined and assigned to his classes, settlement will then be expected either by cash or note.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health.

In event of sickness notice must in all cases be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

Literary Societies.

There are three Literary Societies connected with the School: The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Ghsco Societies, conducted by the gentlemen.

Libraries.

There are three Libraries connected with the School, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Several books of reference will be added next year.

Lectures.

A Lecture Association affords an opportunity for hearing many distinguished speakers. Lectures are frequently given in connection with the School.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the natural sciences; also with a Geological Cabinet, containing many valuable specimens.

Boarding.

The cost of Boarding has been about $3.00 per week, including fuel and lights. The club plan of Boarding has been very popular the past year, and the whole expense has been reduced to less than $2.00 per week, to each member. Those who have tried this plan are well pleased with it. Rooms may be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and expenses reduced to $1.50 per week, or less.

Location.

The School is in the village of Spiceland, Henry County, Indiana. Dunreith, two and a half miles distant, on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad, is the nearest railway station. A hack meets the trains twice each day at Dunreith, and once at New Castle.

General Items.

The government of the School is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge, than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Algebra and Latin, there are from three to five classes in each, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to their advancement.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and the Methodists each hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintain a Sabbath-school. The Young Men's Christian Association holds a meeting for worship one evening each week.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

The High School building has recently been enlarged, and much better accommodations are furnished than formerly.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who can complete the course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Hereafter special Review Classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

Credit will be given for substituted studies, and students who are preparing for college will be allowed to graduate when they have done work equivalent to that required to complete the regular course.

As soon as the student has been examined and assigned to his classes, settlement will then be expected, either by cash or note.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health.

In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

Literary Societies.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school:—The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Glisco Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

Libraries.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable books of reference are free to all. New books are added each year.

Lectures.

A Lecture Association affords opportunity for hearing many distinguished speakers. Lectures are frequently given in connection with the school.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also with a Geological Cabinet, containing many valuable specimens.

Boarding.

The cost of boarding, the past year, has been about $2 51 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. Club-boarding, including room-rent, can be obtained for less than $2.00. Meals at $1.50 per week.

Location.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, Henry county, Indiana. Dunreith, two and a half miles distant, on the Pittsburg, Cincinnati and St. Louis R. R., is the nearest railway station. A hack meets the trains three times each day at Dunreith, and once at New Castle.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge, than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Algebra and Latin, there are from three to five classes each, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to their advancement.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and the Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath-school. The Young Mens' Christian Association holds a meeting for worship one evening each week.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and that pupils may receive personal attention each recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students, who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

The High School building has recently been enlarged, and much better accommodations are furnished than formerly.

No student, whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency, will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Third Year.—First term: Latin—Cicero, Mental Science, English History, Surveying. Second term: Astronomy, Logic, Political Economy. Third term: Geology, Moral Science, General Reviews.

Remarks.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a College course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for College.

Elocution and English Literature receive special attention: the latter consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, the history of the lives of the leading authors, and a critical study of parts of their works.

In the Latin and Greek languages, thorough drill on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of verbs, is given, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work in these languages will be the same as that required by the college which students propose to enter.

Classes will be formed in the Greek, French and German languages, whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

Credit will be given for substituted studies, and students who are preparing for college will be allowed to graduate when they have done work equivalent to that required to complete the regular course.

Special Departments.

Advanced course in Chemistry: This includes Qualitative Analysis and practical work in the Laboratory.

Civil Engineering.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of the Transit and the Level.

Commercial Department.

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Book-keeping.

Normal Department.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter; then instruction will be given in methods of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education. For those attending in this department the Primary and Intermediate Schools afford an opportunity to learn, both by observation and practice, the best methods of teaching.

Rates of Tuition.

		If paid in advance
Primary Department—Grade C	35 cents per week	30 cents.
Primary Department—Grade B	40 cents per week	35 cents.
Primary Department—Grade A	45 cents per week	40 cents.
Intermediate Department	60 cents per week	50 cents.
Grammar School	75 cents per week	70 cents.
High School—first year	85 cents per week	80 cents.
High School—Second and Third years	$1 00 per week	90 cents.
Normal Department	85 cents per week	80 cents.
Commercial Department	$1 00 per week

Hereafter special Review Classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health.

In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

Literary Societies.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school:—The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Glisca Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

Libraries.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable books of reference are free to all. New books are added each year.

Lectures.

Lectures are frequently given by the teachers, and opportunities are also afforded for hearing distinguished lecturers from abroad.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also a Geological Cabinet, containing many valuable specimens. During the past year the latter has been enlarged by the addition of a valuable collection of over twelve hundred specimens, purchased and presented to the Academy by its alumni.

Boarding.

The cost of board and lodging, the past year has been about $2.75 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. A boarding house is connected with the Academy, at which rooms and club-board are furnished.

Location.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, Henry county, Indiana. Dunreith, two and a half miles distant, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis R. W., is the nearest railway station. A hack meets the trains three times each day at Dunreith, and once at New Castle.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge, than upon rapidity of advancement

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Algebra and Latin, there are from three to five classes each, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to their advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and the Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. The Young Men's Christian Association holds a meeting for worship one evening each week.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during each recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

The High School building has recently been enlarged, and much better accomodations are furnished than formerly.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency, will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Third Year.—First term: Latin—Cicero, Mental Science, English History, Surveying. Second term: Astronomy, Logic, Political Economy. Third term: Geology, Moral Science, General Reviews.

Remarks.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a College course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for College.

Elocution and English Literature receive special attention: the latter consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, the history of the lives of the leading authors, and a critical study of parts of their works.

In the Latin and Greek languages, thorough drill on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of verbs, is given, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work in these languages will be the same as that required by the college which students propose to enter.

Classes will be formed in the Greek, French and German languages, whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

Credit will be given for substituted studies, and students who are preparing for college will be allowed to graduate when they have done work equivalent to that required to complete the regular course.

Special Departments.

Advanced course in Chemistry: This includes Qualitative Analysis and practical work in the Laboratory.

Civil Engineering.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of the Transit and the Level.

Commercial Department.

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Book-keeping.

Normal Department.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter; then instruction will be given in methods of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education. For those attending in this department the Primary and Intermediate Schools afford an opportunity to learn, both by observation and practice, the best methods of teaching.

Rates of Tuition.

		If paid in advance.
Primary Department—Grade C	35 cents per week	30 cents
Primary Department—Grade B	40 cents per week	35 cents
Primary Department—Grade A	45 cents per week	40 cents.
Intermediate Department	60 cents per week	50 cents.
Grammar School	75 cents per week	70 cents.
High School—first year	85 cents per week	80 cents.
High School—Second and Third years	$1 00 per week	90 cents.
Normal Department	85 cents per week	80 cents.
Commercial Department	$1 00 per week

Hereafter special Review Classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health.

In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

Literary Societies.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school:—The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Cresent and Glisco Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

Libraries.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable books of reference are free to all. New books are added each year.

Lectures.

Lectures are frequently given by the teachers, and opportunities are also afforded for hearing distinguished lecturers from abroad.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also a Geological Cabinet containing many valuable specimens. During the past year the latter has been enlarged by the addition of a valuable collection of over twelve hundred specimens, purchased and presented to the Academy by its alumni.

Boarding.

The cost of boarding and lodging, the past year has been about $2.75 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. A boarding house is connected with the Academy, at which rooms and club-board are furnished.

Location.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, Henry county, Indiana. Dunreith, two and a half miles distant, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis R. W., is the nearest railway station. A hack meets the trains three times each day at Dunreith, and once at New Castle.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge, than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Algebra and Latin there are from three to five classes each, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to their advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. The Young Men's Christian Association holds a meeting for worship one evening each week.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during each recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

The High School building has recently been enlarged, and much better accommodations are furnished than formerly.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency, will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

REMARKS.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Elocution and English Literature receive special attention; the latter consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, the history of the lives of the leading authors, and a critical study of parts of their works.

In the Latin and Greek languages, THOROUGH DRILL on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of verbs, is given, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work in these languages will be the same as that required by the college which students propose to enter.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and French languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

Credit will be given for substituted studies, and students who are preparing for college will be allowed to graduate when they have done work equivalent to that required to complete the regular course.

Special Departments.

ADVANCED CHEMISTRY.

This course includes Qualitative Analysis and practical work in the Laboratory.

CIVIL ENGINEERING.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of the Transit and the Level.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

In this department Instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Book-keeping.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter; then instruction will be given in the methods of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education. For those attending in this department the Primary and Intermediate schools afford an opportunity to learn, both by observation and practice, the best methods of teaching.

Rates of Tuition.

		If paid in advance.
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade C	35 cents per week	.30 cents
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade B	40 cents per week	.35 cents
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade A	45 cents per week	.40 cents
INTERMEDIATE DEPARTMENT	60 cents per week	.50 cents

HIGH SCHOOL.—First Year	85 cents per week	.80 cents
HIGH SCHOOL.—Second and Third Years	$1 00 per week	.90 cents
NORMAL DEPARTMENT	85 cents per week	.80 cents
COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT	$1 00 per week

Hereafter special Review Classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

Literary Societies.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school: The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Gilsco Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School Students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

Libraries.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable books of reference are free to all. New books are added each year.

Lectures.

Lectures are frequently given by the teachers, and opportunities are also afforded for hearing distinguished lecturers from abroad.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also a Geological Cabinet containing many valuable specimens, which has been enlarged by the addition of a valuable collection of over twelve hundred specimens, purchased and presented to the Academy by its Alumni.

Boarding.

The cost of boarding and lodging the past year has been about $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. A club has been in successful operation, and the entire cost of board, room-rent, light and fuel, was reduced to $2.10 per week.

Location.

The School is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Algebra and Latin there are from three to five classes each, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to their advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. The Young Men's Christian Association holds a meeting for worship one evening each week.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during each recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students, who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency, will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the Instructors and the president of the Board of Trustees.

REMARKS.

—(o)—

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

English Literature receives special attention: the work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, the history of the lives of the leading authors, and a critical study of parts of their works.

In the Latin and Greek languages, THOROUGH DRILL on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of verbs, is given, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work in these languages will be the same as that required by the college which students propose to enter.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and French languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

Credit will be given for substituted studies, and students who are preparing for college will be allowed to graduate when they have done work equivalent to that required to complete the regular course.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENTS.

—(o)—

Civil Engineering.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of the Transit and the Level.

Commercial Department.

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Book-keeping.

Normal Department.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter; then instruction will be given in the methods of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education. For those attending in this department the Primary and Intermediate schools afford an opportunity to learn, both by observation and practice, the best methods of teaching.

Rates of Tuition.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade C	$ 30 cents	per week.
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade B	35 cents	per week.
PRIMARY DEPARTMENT—Grade A	40 cents	per week.
INTERMEDIATE DEPARTMENT	50 cents	per week.
GRAMMAR SCHOOL	70 cents	per week.
HIGH SCHOOL—First Year	80 cents	per week.
HIGH SCHOOL—Second Year	90 cents	per week.
HIGH SCHOOL—Third Year	1 00	per week.
NORMAL DEPARTMENT	90 cents	per week.

Hereafter special Review Classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

Payment of tuition must be made at the beginning of each term. In case of absence on account of protracted Sickness a pro rata part of the money will be returned.

Literary Societies.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school: The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Gilsco Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School Students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

Libraries.

There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes. Two of them belong to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Reading Room.

A Reading Room has recently been opened, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the leading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable books of reference are free to all. New books are added each year.

Lectures.

Lectures are frequently given by the teachers, and opportunities are also offered for hearing distinguished lecturers from abroad.

Apparatus and Cabinet.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also a Geological Cabinet containing many valuable specimens, which has been enlarged by the addition of a valuable collection of over twelve hundred specimens, purchased and presented to the Academy by its Alumni.

Boarding.

The cost of boarding and lodging the past year has been about $3.000 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. A club has been in successful operation, and the entire cost of boarding, room-rent, light and fuel, was reduced to $2.25 per week.

Location.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles north of Dunreith on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and self-respect and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography, Algebra and Latin there are from three to five classes, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to their advancement,

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the School are very careful to make this an institution in which students, who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

It is the aim to promote the growth of students intellectually, morally and physically—to make better men and women in every particular.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency, will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study, and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the Board of Trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.—ADVANTAGES.

To persons desiring to obtain a thorough education under the most favorable circumstances, Spiceland Academy offers the following, among other advantages:

Three carefully selected Courses of Study—a High School Course, a College Preparatory Course, and a Teachers' Course.

Excellent classes in the Common Branches for those not prepared or not wishing to take the advanced courses.

A corps of teachers not only well acquainted with the work, but thoroughly alive to the interest of each individual pupil.

A variety of helps; such as Libraries, Scientific Apparatus, Charts and Natural Specimens; also, Reading-room, Literary Societies and Lecture Course.

The best of moral and social influences, with nothing to distract the attention from the work in hand.

A very low rate of expense.

Ample provision is made for instruction in all the Common Branches every term. In these, and in Algebra and Latin, new classes are formed each term, so that a student may have no difficulty in finding classes adapted to his wants. Great pains are taken to secure accurate and independent work, in accordance with the most approved methods of study and instruction. Difficult points receive a due share of attention; and habits of rigid original analysis are cultivated. The development of the pupil's own thinking power is a leading point in all the instruction.

THE HIGH SCHOOL COURSE

Will be seen to embrace a variety of studies of the highest practical and disciplinary value. Each department of the work is in the care of a teacher who has given special attention to it. There are thorough drills in Latin and Greek. A Cabinet containing many hundred specimens illustrates the subjects of Geology, Mineralogy, Zoology, Chemistry and Anatomy. An Electrical Machine, Air-Pump, and Galvanic and other apparatus, add interest and clearness to the study of Natural Philosophy. Facilities are furnishsd for all ordinary manipulations in Chemistry. In the Natural Science classes, considerable attention is given to the examination of specimens and to experiments and dissections.

Classes in Higher Mathematics have access to instruments, and are instructed in the use of them. Mental and Moral Science are taught as sciences, but with direct reference to the problems of every-day life. English Literature and Criticism receive careful attention, the objects of these studies being: 1st. A knowledge of Authors and their works; 2d. A relish for literary and biographical knowledge; 3d. A discriminating literary taste.

The art of Composition and that of Elocution are also cultivated by regular exercises and systematic instruction.

THE NORMAL COURSE

Is adapted to the wants of all teachers in the Common Schools. It embraces a study of Mental Science, and bases upon this an investigation of the principles which underlie all correct and successful teaching. It also includes a full discussion of the Classification and Gradation of the School; Order of Studies and Recitations; School Government, and the General Duties of the Teacher toward the Children, the Parents and the State.

Students are required to prepare outlines of Object Lessons, and to give lessons to younger classes, subject to criticism. They are expected to ascertain the relation of each Common School Study to the general purpose of education, and to determine from the principles of Mental Science and the character of the subject taught, the method proper to be pursued in the teaching of any given branch or topic. One-third of the student's time is thus devoted to the Principles and Practice of Teaching; one-third to the study of branches of his own choosing, beyond the eight required by law; and the remaining third to the systematic review of the Common Branches, unless he is already proficient in these, in which case he may select Higher Branches. It is believed that this course will at once commend itself to teachers who desire further preparation for the duties of their profession.

THE COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE,

Is substantially the same as that required at Earlham College. Students completing this course are admitted to Earlham College as Regular Freshmen, without examination, upon the certificate of the Academy. Haverford College has also consented to receive the certificate of the Academy in lieu of entrance examinations. Students wishing to enter any other college can substitute Greek or any other required study for such branches in our course as their wants do not require. The course is almost identical with that required by the Indiana State University.

SPECIAL WORK.

A course in Civil Engineering, embracing Land Surveying, Levelling, Railroad Lines, Curves and Embankments, with the practical use of the Transit and Level, is open to such as desire to enter it; also a course in Chemical Analysis, (Qualitative). Classes in German and French will be organized whenever there is a sufficient number of applicants to form a class. Instruction may be had in Drawing and Painting at a slight additional cost.

LECTURES.

During the past year, single lectures or series of lectures have been given on the following subjects: Astronomy, Natural Philosophy, English Literature, English Orthography, Customs of Foreign Nations, Geography of our own Country, International Law, Mental Philosophy, and Theory and Practice of Teaching. Also a special series to the higher mathematical classes on Projection Drawing.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school; the Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Gliseo Societies by the gentlemen. These afford an excellent opportunity for practice in literary work, and for becoming acquainted with parliamentary usages.

GOVERNMENT, ETC.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and self-respect and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

It is the aim to promote the growth of students intellectually, morally and physically—to make better men and women in every particular.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students, who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village. Definite moral or religious instruction is included in the daily school work.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency, will be retained in the school.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

CERTIFICATES.

A student who finishes in a satisfactory manner the studies of the High School Course, and whose character is unobjectionable, will receive a diploma signed by the Teachers and by the President of the Board of Trustees. Those who complete the Preparatory Course as here laid down, or as modified to suit the requirements of a particular college, will receive an appropriate certificate of the same, which will be taken in lieu of examinations at any college with which the Academy has such arrangements.

Those who pass thorough examinations in the eight Common Branches, in three or more of the Higher Branches, and in the Year's work in Principles and Practice of Teaching, will receive certificates appropriate to the Normal Course.

EXPENSES.

Tuition in High School Course, per week first year, 80 cents; second year, 90 cents; third year, $1.00. In Preparatory College Course, 80 and 90 cents. In Normal Course and Review Classes, 90 cents. In Common Branches with regular advanced classes, 70 cents.

Payment of tuition must be made at the beginning of each term. In case of absence on account of protracted sickness a pro rata part of the money will be returned.

Good board, including furnished room, fuel and lights, in private families, per week, $2.50. In clubs, $2.35, or less, depending upon the preferences of members.

Good rooms can be had for self-boarding, by which brothers and sisters or acquaintances from the same neighborhood, may obtain comfortable and pleasant boarding at a total expense not exceeding $1.60 per week.

LOCATION, ETC.

The village of Spiceland is located between New Castle and Rushville, on the Fort Wayne, Louisville & Cincinnati R. R., and is also connected by back line with Dunreith, on the C., St. L. & P. R. R. The location is pleasant and healthful.

GRADED COURSE IN COMMON SCHOOL BRANCHES.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT:

First Year. Chart Lessons, First Reader, Writing, Drawing, Number Lessons.

Second Year. Second Reader, Spelling, Writing, Number Lessons, Drawing, Language.

Third Year. Third Reader, Spelling, Writing, Drawing, Language, Elementary Arithmetic (White's) to Lesson 27.

Fourth Year. Fourth Reader, (McGuffley's Revised) to Lesson 36, Spelling, Writing, Language, Arithmetic, Part II, to Lesson 22; Elementary Geography, (Harper), to Lesson 35.

INTERMEDIATE DEPARTMENT.

First Year. Fourth Reader, completed; Writing, Spelling, Language Lessons, (Harvey), to Lesson 48; Arithmetic, Part II and Part III, to Lessson 29; Elementary Geography, completed.

Second Year. Fifth Reader, Writing, Spelling, Language Lessons, completed; Elementary Arithmetic, completed and reviewed; Intermediate Geography, to Lesson 46.

GRAMMAR DEPARTMENT:

First Year. Fifth Reader, Writing, Spelling, Grammar, (Harvey), to Lesson 152; Arithmetic, (White's), completed to Percentage; Geography, completed.

Second Year. Sixth Reader, Writing, Spelling, Arithmetic, completed; Grammar, completed; Composition, U. S. History, Physiology.

Throughout the course, instruction is regularly given in Morals and Manners. Each department has also a variety of general lessons designed to cultivate quick perception, accurate observation, memory, imagination and reflection, and exercises to secure ready and accurate oral and written expression.

Each year's work is divided into three sections corresponding to the three school terms. By this arrangement, the pupil who fails of promotion with his class, is not thrown back an entire year, but only a single term. No pupil is promoted until he has finished all the work of his section. Pupils who attend but two terms in the year, will require three years to complete the work of two years.

Owing to the fact that a large proportion of the Eighth Year pupils have one or more High School studies before finishing the Eighth Year's work, they are seated and also enrolled with the academic students.

REMARKS.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

English Literature receives special attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, the history of the lives of the leading authors, and a critical study of parts of their works.

In the Latin and Greek languages, thorough drill on the declension of nouns and the conjugation of the verbs, is given, and also on the application of the rules of construction. The amount of work in these languages will be the same as that required by the college which students propose to enter.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number shall desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

SPECIAL DEPARTMENTS.

CIVIL ENGINEERING.

This course includes Land Surveying, Leveling, and the practical use of the Transit and the Level.

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT.

In this department instruction is given in Penmanship, forms and uses of business papers, Single and Double Entry Book-Keeping.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Special attention will be given to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed towards securing thorough and accurate knowledge of the subject matter; then instruction will be given in the methods of teaching, school organization, and the philosophy of education. For those attending in this department the Primary and Intermediate schools afford an opportunity to learn, both by observation and practice, the best methods of teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

	Per Week.
Primary Department—First Year	$ .30
Primary Department—Second Year	.35
Primary Department—Third and Fourth Years	.40
Intermediate Department	.55
Grammar School—First Year	.65
Grammar School—Second Year	.75
High School—First Year	.80
High School—Second Year	.90
High School—Third Year	1.00
Normal and Review Classes	.90
Commercial Department	1.00

Hereafter Special Review Classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school. The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Gilisco Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

LIBRARIES.

There are three libraries in connection with the schoool, which contain about two onsand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies, and the other to the cademy Association. Additions are made each year.

READING ROOM.

There is a reading table, to which all students have access. It is supplied with the eading periodicals, and a number of valuable papers. Cyclopedias and other valuable ooks of reference are free to all.

LECTURES.

Lectures will be frequently given by the teachers, and opportunities are also offered for hearing distinguished lecturers from abroad.

APPARATUS AND CABINET.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in studying the Natural Sciences; also a Geological Cabinet containing many valuable specimens, which has been enlarged by the addition of a valuable collection of over twelve hundred specimens, purchased and presented to the Academy by its Alumni.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging the past year has been about $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. In a club the entire cost of boarding, room-rent, light and fuel, can be reduced to $2.25 per week, or less, depending on the preference of members.

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and self-respect and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography and Algebra there are from three to five classes each, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to their advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students, who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency, will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study, and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the Board of Trustees.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English Literature receives careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years work in Latin, or in special cases, equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns and adjectives and the conjugations of verbs, is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm.

NORMAL COURSE.

Special attention is paid to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed toward securing a thorough and accurate knowledge. Classes in all the legal branches are formed each term, and during the spring term special review classes are organized in which the studies are taken up topically and methods of instruction are discussed. During the spring term instruction is given in the science and art of teaching, school organization, school management and the history and philosophy of education. A strong effort is made to infuse into those intending to teach the true teaching spirit. The true teacher must possess scholarship and skill. To show how successful the Academy has been as a Normal School, it needs only to be stated that three-fourths of all our graduates have become teachers.

RATES OF TUITION.

	Per Week.
Primary Department—First Year	$ .30
Primary Department—Second Year	.35
Primary Department—Third and Fourth Years	.40
Intermediate Department	.55
Grammar School—First Year	.65
Grammar School—Second Year	.75
High School—First Year	.80
High School—Second Year	.90
High School—Third Year	1.00
Normal and Review Classes	.90
Commercial Department	1.00

Hereafter Special Review Classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school. The Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Gliscn Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies, and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging the past year has been about $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who wish to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. In a club the entire cost of boarding, room-rent, light and fuel, can be reduced to $2.25 per week, or less, depending on the preference of members.

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

GENERAL ITEMS.

As an aid to pupils in the preparation of their lessons, dictionaries, cyclopedias and other books of reference are placed in the school room and are free to all. Also, the leading magazines and newspapers are furnished for the use of the students.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational and scientific subjects.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and self-respect and self-control, on the part of the student, are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students, who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students, whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the Board of Trustees.

"Literary culture is mental horticulture: It joins beauty to utility and gives fertility, harmony and completeness to the mind of its possessor."

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English Literature receives careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years work in Latin, or in special cases, equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns and adjectives and the conjugations of verbs, is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the Sciences objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm.

NORMAL COURSE.

Special attention is paid to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed toward securing a thorough and accurate knowledge. Classes in all the legal branches are formed each term, and during the spring term special review classes are organized in which the studies are taken up topically and methods of instruction are discussed. During the spring term instruction is given in the science and art of teaching, school organization, school management and the history and philosophy of education. A strong effort is made to infuse into those intending to teach the true teaching spirit. The true teacher must possess scholarship and skill. To show how successful the Academy has been as a Normal School, it needs only to be stated that three-fourths of all our graduates have become teachers.

RATES OF TUITION.

	Per Week.
Primary Department—First Year	$ .30
Primary Department—Second Year	.35
Primary Department—Third and Fourth Years	.40

Grammar School—First Year	.65
Grammar School—Second Year	.75
High School—First Year	.80
High School—Second Year	.90
High School—Third Year	1.00
Normal and Review Classes	.50
Commercial Department	1.00

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school, the Lucernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Gliseo Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging the past year has been about $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. In a club the entire cost of boarding, room-rent, light and fuel can be reduced to $2.25 per week, or less, depending on the preference of members.

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational and scientific subjects. The following lectures have been given the past year:

Pres. D. S. Jordan.....“An Ascent of the Matterhorn.”
W. A. Bell.....“Horace Mann.”
Hon. Thos. H. Nelson.....“Mexico.”
Prof. W. J. Bryan.....“A Theory of Life.”
Hannah E. Davis.....“Vesuvius and Pompeii.”
Lois G. Hufford.....“A Measure of Values.”
Pres. J. J. Mills.....“The Relation of Church and State to Education.”
Hon. W. D. Foulke.....“Greek Literature.”

GENERAL ITEMS.

As an aid to pupils in the preparation of their lessons dictionaries, cyclopedias and other books of reference are placed in the school room and are free to all. Also, the leading magazines and newspapers are furnished for the use of the students.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Grammar, Geography and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintain a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which studedts who are away from home and its restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

"It is what the child does for himself and by himself, under wise guidance, that educates him."—SWETT.

SPICELAND, INDIANA, is a thriving, growing Town of about eight hundred inhabitants, situated on the Ft. Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railway, and two and one-half miles north of Dunreith, on the C., St. L. & P. Railway, in Henry County. Four daily mails; telegraph office. The location of an excellent Academy of high grade. A moral and temperance town; no liquor saloons. UNLIMITED SUPPLY OF NATURAL GAS! Natural Gas used for fuel and light of the town. Free Gas to manufactories. A very healthy community. Best of water. In the midst of excellent farming country. Gravel roads running in every direction. Plenty of good timber. Taxes low. Town out of debt. Mechanics busy. A Board of Trade to look after the interests of the town. Three large Libraries accessible to all. Cost of living small. WE WANT MANUFACTURES AND MORE CITIZENS TO LOCATE HERE. If you wish to be near an excellent school; if you want to change your location for any purpose; if you want to live in a good moral and temperance town; if you want to engage in manufacturing, WE WANT YOU HERE. Write to the Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Trade, who will gladly give you any information.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English Literature receives careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declensions of nouns and adjectives and the conjugations of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the Sciences objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm.

NORMAL COURSE.

Special attention is paid to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed toward securing a thorough and accurate knowledge. Classes in all the legal branches are formed each term, and during the spring term special review classes are organized in which the studies are taken up topically and methods of instruction are discussed. During the spring term instruction is given in the science and art of teaching, school organization, school management and the history and philosophy of education. A strong effort is made to infuse into those intending to teach, the true teaching spirit. The true teacher must possess scholarship and skill. To show how successful the Academy has been as a Normal School, it needs only to be stated that three-fourths of all our graduates have become teachers.

RATES OF TUITION.

	Per Week.
Primary Department—First Year	$ .30
Primary Department—Second Year	.35
Primary Department—Third and Fourth Years	.40
Intermediate Department	.55
Grammar School—First Year	.65
Grammar School—Second Year	.75
High School—First Year	.80
High School—Second Year	.90
High School—Third Year	1.00
Normal and Review Classes	.90
Commercial Department	1.00

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are three permanent Literary Societies connected with the school, the Lacernian, conducted by the ladies, and the Crescent and Glisco Societies, by the gentlemen. Literary organizations are also sustained by the Intermediate and Grammar School students. Care is taken to make students acquainted with the rules governing parliamentary bodies.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging during the past year has been about $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. In a club the entire cost of boarding, room-rent, light and fuel can be reduced to $2.25 per week, or less, depending on the preference of members.

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Ft. Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Chicago, St. Louis & Pittsburgh Railroad.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational and scientific subjects. The following lectures have been given the past year:

PROF. D. W. DENNIS, ... "Farm and Garden."
ELDER J. H. EDWARDS, ... "Australia."
PROF. W. J. BRYAN, . . "Future of the Mississippi Valley."
PROF. C. W. HODGIN, ... "The Age of Washington."
PROF. S. S. PARR, ... "Fifty Days in London."
PRESIDENT W. W. PARSONS, . . "The Ethics of Shakespeare."
GEORGE W. BASS, ... "Gumption."

GENERAL ITEMS.

As an aid to pupils in the preparation of their lessons, dictionaries, cyclopedias and other books of reference are placed in the school room and are free to all. Also, the leading magazines and newspapers are furnished for the use of the students.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

In Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

Students are required to keep study hours during the evening.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college.

Classes will be formed in the Greek and German and French languages whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English Literature receives careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declensions of nouns and adjectives and the conjugations of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the Sciences objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm.

NORMAL COURSE.

Special attention is paid to the training of teachers. To this end the first efforts will be directed toward securing a thorough and accurate knowledge. Classes in all the legal branches are formed each term, and during the spring term special review classes are organized in which the studies are taken up topically and methods of instruction are discussed. During the spring term special normal classes are formed in all the legal branches, in the Science and Art of Teaching, Psychology, Physical Geography. Lectures are given on school organization, school management and the practical work of school teaching. A strong effort is made to infuse into those intending to teach the true teaching spirit. The true teacher must possess scholarship and skill. To show how successful the Academy has been as a Normal School, it needs only to be stated that three-fourths of all our graduates have become teachers.

RATES OF TUITION.

	Per Week.
Primary Department—First Year	$0 30
Primary Department—Second Year	35
Primary Department—Third and Fourth Years	40
Intermediate Department	55
Grammar School—First Year	65
Grammar School—Second Year	75
High School—First Year	80
High School—Second Year	90
High School—Third Year	1 00
Normal and Review Classes	90
Commercial Department	1 00

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill-health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Societies connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades, both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end public exercises are frequently held to commemorate some author, or well-known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belong to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The cost of boarding and lodging during the past year has been about $3.00 per week. Rooms can be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and the cost reduced to less than $1.75 per week. In a club the entire cost of boarding, room-rent, light and fuel can be reduced to $2.25 per week, or less, depending on the preference of members.

LOCATION.

The school is in the village of Spiceland, which is situated on the Ft. Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville Railroad, and two and a half miles north of Dunreith, on the Chicago, St. Louis & Pittsburgh Railroad.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational and scientific subjects. The following lectures have been given the past year:

Hon. Will Cumback..... ....."The Common Man."
Hon. D. P. Baldwin.....“Personality.”
Prof. W. A. Bell.....“Growth.”
Pres't J. J. Mills..... .....“Egypt.”
Prof. R. G. Boone..... .....“Protestantism and Elementary Education.”
Prof. Geo. F. Bass.....“Humor.”

GENERAL ITEMS.

As an aid to pupils in the preparation of their lessons, dictionaries, cyclopedias and other books of reference are placed in the school room and are free to all.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

Promotions are never made on the ground of technical advancement alone, and examinations play a subordinate part in promoting students. Examinations for promotions have been wholly abandoned. The pupil's grade and standing is determined from his general character as a student, his earnestness, his diligence, his attention to duty, his promptness in his work, and the mental power he displays. These are tested daily in class work as well as in frequent oral and written reviews. This method reveals from day to day what the pupil knows and how he knows it, relieving the teacher and pupil from the final examination to determine whether the promotion will be made, and best of all, it dispenses with the harmful "cramming" process.

In Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of the Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Spiceland Academy.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the Board of Trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control it is not sectarian; its foundation rests upon solid Christian Culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 116 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, and adjoining is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports.

ENTRANCE.

Students can enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In absence of approved certificates examinations will be held, and students will be classified accordingly.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Much care and attention are paid to the Normal teaching. More than seventy-five per cent. of our graduates have followed teaching for a longer or shorter period. More than half of the teachers of Henry county have been students at the Academy. Those who desire to become teachers will find classes to suit every term, but during the Spring term special efforts are made for Normal work. In this term Review classes will be formed in all the legal branches, in which instruction will be given in methods of teaching, as well as a thorough review of all the principles of these studies. Daily recitations are held in Pedagogy Mental Science, Physical Geography and Rhetoric. Besides these special classes much of the High School course is of particular value to teachers. Students can enter any classes for which they are prepared, and other classes not named will be formed if there is a sufficient demand. The term is of sufficient length to enable students to do good permanent work. In the Normal Course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools, quite as much as to aid them to get good licenses. A series of talks will be given in this course on school management, methods of instruction and the practical work of school teaching.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college. Students are urged to choose a college course, and all possible aid will be given. Students will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examinations.

Other classes will be formed whenever a sufficient number desire to pursue those studies.

Penmanship, Reading and Composition will receive attention throughout the whole course of study.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literatures receive careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have at least two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns and adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading are given. The intention is to make this study practical as well as disciplinary. The inductive method is used in this study.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and the Philosophy of History. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom. The course includes two full years of historical study.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Minerology are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness, notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades, both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are frequently held to commemorate some author, or well-known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school room, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three Libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantages of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. Students have been in attendance the past year whose entire expenses, including tuition, have been less than $100. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and the price of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on education, scientific and literary subjects. For several years a lecture course has been maintained by the school.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

Promotions are never made on the ground of technical advancement alone, and examinations play a subordinate part in promoting students. Examinations for promotions have been wholly abandoned. The pupil's grade and standing is determined from his general character as a student, his earnestness, his diligence, his attention to duty, his promptness in his work, and the mental power he displays. These are tested daily in class work as well as in frequent oral and written reviews. This method reveals from day to day what the pupil knows and how he knows it, relieving the teacher and pupil from the final examination to determine whether the promotion will be made, and best of all, it dispenses with the harmful "cramming" process.

In Arithmetic, Geography, Grammar and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintain a Sabbath school. A society of the Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

There are no beer, liquor or billard saloons in the village.

No student whose influenee is known to have a corrupt tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose eonduct is exemplary and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary produetion, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the Board of Trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian; its foundation rests upon solid Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 127 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, and adjoining is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports.

ENTRANCE.

Students can enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In absence of approved certificates examinations will be held, and students will be classified accordingly.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Much care and attention are paid to the Normal teaching. More than seventy-five per cent of our graduates have followed teaching for a longer or shorter period. More than half of the teachers of Henry county have been students at the Academy. Those who desire to become teachers will find classes to suit every term, but during the Spring term special efforts are made for Normal work. In this term Review classes will be formed in all the legal branches, in which instruction will be given in methods of teaching, as well as a thorough review of all the principles of these studies. Daily recitations are offered in Pedagogy, Mental Science, Physical Geography and Rhetoric. Besides these special classes, much of the High School course is of particular value to teachers. Students can enter any classes for which they are prepared, and other classes not named will be formed if there is a sufficient demand. The term is of sufficient length to enable students to do good, permanent work. In the Normal Course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools, quite as much as to aid them to get good licenses. A series of talks will be given in this course on school management, methods of instruction, and the practical work of school teaching.

REMARKS ON COURSE OF STUDY.

Classes in Bookkeeping, Single and Double entry, will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third-year study. Satisfactory work in this subject may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college and third-year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given whenever a sufficient number of students desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examination

In Arithmetic, U. S. History, Geography, Physiology, Grammar and Algebra there are from three to five classes each term, so that students can enter school at any time and be classed according to advancement.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the State.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second-year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical Purity, Choice and Use of Words, and Kinds of Composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literatures receive careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns and adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom. The course includes three full years of historical study.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Bookkeeping and its practical phases of business papers and all commercial forms, is taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

RATES OF TUITION.

	PER WEEK.
Primary Department—First Year	$0 30.
Primary Department—Second Year	35.
Primary Department—Third and Fourth Year	40.
Intermediate Department	55.
Grammar School—First Year	65.
Grammar School—Second Year	75.
High School—First Year	80.
High School—Second Year	90.
High School—Third Year	1 00.
Normal and Review Classes	90.
Commercial Department	1 00.

Special review classes will be considered as belonging to the High School, and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness, notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades, both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author, or well-known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school room, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who desire to board themselves, and the price of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Opportunity is offered to students, free of cost, of hearing good lectures on educational, scientific and literary subjects. For several years a lecture course has been maintained by the school.

The following lectures were given the past year: "Recollections of the Presidents," by Hon. Richard Thompson, Terre Haute; "The Medical Profession in the Civil War," by Dr J. R Weist, Richmond; Stereopticon Entertainment and Lecture, "Ben Hur," by Prof. D. W. Dennis, Richmond.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The Government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, and that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade.

Students whose daily class record is 95 per cent, with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination. Those who satisfactorily complete the Grammar School course are given certificates to that effect.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the State.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintain a Sabbath school. A society of the Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

There are no beer, liquor, or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupt tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

SPICELAND PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The public schools of Spiceland Corporation are under the same supervision as Spiceland Academy, but otherwise they are wholly under the control of the Corporation school board. Pupils not residing in, or not attached to, Spiceland Corporation are required to pay tuition at rates given elsewhere in this catalogue.

The course of study is based upon that adopted by the County Superintendents' Convention and used throughout the State.

The work of each school year is divided into two parts and promotions are made at the end of each term. Pupils not doing satisfactory work in any grade are required to take the same work another term. To do the work required in each grade, it is necessary that pupils be regular and punctual in attendance and industrious in effort. Absence from a single recitation breaks the thread of thought and often causes the pupil to lose interest and become discouraged in his work. The hearty cooperation of parents and guardians is earnestly solicited that best results may be obtained.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body, the Board of Trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian; its foundation rests upon Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 136 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, and adjoining is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by students.

ENTRANCE.

Students can enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificates, examinations will be held and students will be classified accordingly.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

Much care and attention are paid to the Normal teaching. More than seventy-five per cent of our graduates have followed teaching for a longer or shorter period. A great many of the teachers of Henry county have been students at the Academy. Those who desire to become teachers will find classes to suit every term, but during the Spring term special efforts are made for Normal work. In this term Review classes will be formed in all the legal branches, in which instruction will be given in methods of teaching, as well as a thorough review of all the principles of these studies. Daily recitations are offered in Pedagogy, Mental Science, Physical Geography and Rhetoric. Besides these special classes, much of the High School course is of particular value to teachers. Students can enter any classes for which they are prepared, and other classes not named will be formed if there is a sufficient demand. The term is of sufficient length to enable students to do good permanent work. In the Normal Course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools, quite as much as to aid them to get good licenses. In this course a series of talks will be given on school management, methods of instruction, and the practical work of school teaching.

Remarks on Course of Study.

Classes in Book Keeping, Single and Double entry, will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in this subject may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but who desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college and third-year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given whenever a sufficient number of students desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the State.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second-year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical parity, Choice and Use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literatures receive careful attention. The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and time of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading and Latin Composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom. The course includes three full years of historical study.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and the practical phases of business paper and all commercial forms, are taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar School	$ 75
High School—First Year	80
High School—Second Year	90
High School—Third Year	1 00
Normal and Review Classes	90
Commercial Department	1 00

Special Review classes will be considered as belonging to the Second Year High School and will be charged accordingly.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness, notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well-known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a very small expense. The following course of lectures by Prof. James A. Woodburn, of the Indiana State University, was delivered before the Spiceland University Extension Association during the season of 1892-93. Students were admitted to these lectures at the nominal fee of fifty cents for the course: "Slavery in the Colonies and the Constitution," "The Missouri Struggle," "The Abolition Agitation," "The Texas Controversy," "The Compromise of 1850," "The Fugitive Slave Law."

GENERAL ITEMS.

The Government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class record is 95 per cent. with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination. Those who satisfactorily complete the Grammar School course are given certificates to that effect.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y.P.S.C.E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupt tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished with a Diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the Board of Trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back for more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body, the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 146 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, and adjoining is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE.

Students can enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly.

Remarks on Course of Study.

Classes in Book Keeping, Single and Double entry, will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in this study may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given whenever a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the State.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second-year High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical purity, Choice and Use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English Language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writing. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight-reading and Latin Composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom. The course includes three full years of historical study.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and the practical phases of business paper and all commercial forms, are taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach, the opportunity of Normal instruction during the spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed, and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work, and for a more extended course than can be given during the spring term has induced the Board to add a Normal Department that provides for a full year's work of three terms, as follows:—

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2nd Gra'mar	2nd Arithm'tic	2nd U. S. Hist'ry	1st G'graphy
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2nd G'graphy

In the fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will also be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the winter term both classes having started in the fall will advance to the next work in the course. In the spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology, and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Term	FALL		WINTER		SPRING
	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 2nd	Method	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Method
	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading	Arithmetic 1st.	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading
	U. S. History. 1st	U. S. History. 2nd	U. S. History. 2nd	Physiology	U. S. History 1st	U. S. History 2nd	Physiology
	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography. 1st.	Geography. 2nd.	Psychology.	Geography. 1st	Geography. 2nd.

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students and for students having graduated from the Common Schools, who wish to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy, and Method will be given to make the work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department can not be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal Course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools, quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to the work in the Normal Department will, in no way, interfere with the regular Academic Course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work, and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof. G. W. Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1894-95 is a graduate of The Indiana State Normal, has had considerable experience in Common School, and High School work, and also in Normal Institute work. He will be aided in this department by a competent assistant; so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a very small expense. The following lectures and entertainments were given under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. during the season of 1893-94: "An Elocutionary Entertainment" by Prof. Trueblood, of Earlham College, "Citizenship" by the Rev. R. V. Hunter, of Terre Haute, "A Musical and Literary Entertainment" under the direction of Emily Louise Parker, "Source of Power" by President J. J. Mills, of Earlham College.

Students were admitted to these lectures and entertainments at the nominal fee of fifty cents for the course..

GENERAL ITEMS.

The Government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work each of pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class record is 95 per cent. with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of the students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath, and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupt tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board of trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends' school is much older than this, dating back for more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 166 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as a Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. &. W. R. R., two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania R. R. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove adjoining which is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held, and students classified accordingly.

Remarks on Course of Study.

Classes in Book Keeping, Single and Double entry, will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in this study may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowlege of those branches which will fit them for active life. Special attention, however, is given to preparing students for college, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges of Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the State.

At the close of the Winter term, the members of the second High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Beside the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical purity, Choice and Use of Words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises n each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, a history of the lives and times of the leading authors, and a critical study of selections from their writing. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents, may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction, and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advance work, exercises in sight-reading and Latin Composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE:

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides an air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry, students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classification are made prominent. In all the sciences, objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

In this study, practical problems are given as much as possible, and especially is this done in Geometry. The students have the use of a surveyor's compass and chain, and learn their practical use. Book-keeping and the practical phases of business paper and all commercial forms are taught, and a student is prepared to take charge of a set of books for a business firm. In the High School, one year is spent on Algebra, and one year on Geometry and Trigonometry.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past, special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach, the opportunity of Normal instruction during the spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed, and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work, and for a more extended course than can be given during the spring term has induced the board to add a Normal Department that provides for a full year's work of three terms, as follows:—

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2nd Gra'mar	2nd Arithmetic	2nd U. S. Hist'ry	1st G'graphy
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2nd G'graphy

In the fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will also be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the winter term both classes having started in the fall will advance to the next work in the course. In the spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology, and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Term	FALL		WINTER		SPRING
	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 2nd.	Method	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Method
	Arithmetic. 1st	Arithmetic. 2nd	Arithmetic. 2nd	Reading	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading
	U. S. History. 1st	U. S. History. 2nd	U. S. History. 2nd	Physiology	U. S. History 1st	U. S. History 2nd	Physiology
	Psychology.	Geography. 1st	Geography. 1st	Geography. 2nd	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 2nd.

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from the Common Schools, who wish to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make the work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to the work in the Normal Department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic Course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work, and part Normal work will be conviently accommodated.

Prof. G. W. Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1894-95 is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal, has had the advantage of a course of instruction in Indiana University, is well experienced in Public and High School work, and also in Normal Institute work. He will be aided in this department by Leonard Young, a State Normal student who has also had the advantage of a course at Indiana University, so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar School.....$ .75 per week.
High School—First Year.....20 per week per subject.
High School—Second Year.....22½ " " " "
High School—Third Year.....33⅓ " " " "
Normal and Review Classes.....$1.00
Commercial Department..... 1.00

Tuition is due at the opening of each term, and settlement must be made with either the treasurer or superintendent, before students may enter upon their term's work.

No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness, notice must, in all cases be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well-known historical event. Essays and declamation are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the Students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. The following course of lectures was given under the auspices of Spiceland Literary Club during the season of 1894-95: Ten lectures on "The Era of the Reformation," by Prof. Cyrus Hodgin, of Earlham College. These lectures were all highly instructive as well as entertaining. Arrangements were made by which these lectures were practically free to the students.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class record is 95 per cent., with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

Spiceland Academy.

HISTORY.

Spiceland Academy is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1872, but its history as a Friends school is much older than this, dating back for more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly meeting, by which body the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 166 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly.

Remarks on the Course of Study.

Higher classes in any of the work will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in those studies may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges in Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the state.

At the close of the Winter term the members of the second High School class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual word in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of Grammatical purity, choice and use of words, and kinds of composition, with practial exercises in each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, history of the lives and times of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writing. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents, may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advance work exercises in sight-reading and Latin Composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History English History, Civil government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural Sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In Chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Minerology are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are studied as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

The aim in this study is to introduce the student to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School, Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six-inch telescope belongs to the Academy, to aid in this study.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of Normal instruction during the spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the spring term has induced the board to add a Normal Department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2nd Grammar	2nd Arithmetic	2nd U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2nd Geography

In the fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the winter term, both classes having started in the fall, will advance to the next work in the course. In the spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Term	FALL		WINTER		SPRING
	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 2nd	Method	Gram'r 1st	Gram'r 2nd	Method
	Arithmetic 1st	Ar'metic 2nd	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading	Ar'hm'c 1st	Ar'hm'c 2nd	Read'ng
	U. S Hist 1st	U. S. Hist 2nd	U. S History 2nd	Physiology	U.S His 1st	U.S.Hist 2nd	Phys'y
	Psychology	Geograp'y 1st	Geography 1st	Geography 2st	Psyc'lgy	Geog'p'y 1st	Geog'y 2nd

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from the Common Schools, who wish to get more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology. Pedagogy and Method will be given to make work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to work in the Normal Department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic Course Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof. G. W Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1896-97, is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal, has had the advantage of a course of instruction in Indiana University, is well experienced in Public and High School work, and also in Normal Institute work. He will be aided in this department by an able assistant so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar School, 75 cents per week. High School—first year, 20 cents per week per subject. High School—second year, 22½ cents per week per subject. High School—third year, 33⅓ cents per week per subject. Normal and Review classes, $1.00. Commercial Department, $1.00.

Tuition is due at the opening of each term, and settlement must be made with either the treasurer or superintendent, before students may enter upon their term's work. No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well known historical event. Essays and declamation are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them in their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3.00 per week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a very small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense Lectures on various subjects are given throughout the year by able lecturers. Arrangements are made by which such lectures are practically free to students.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class work is 95 per cent., with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath and each maintains a Sabbath School. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board of trustees.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly.

Remarks on the Course of Study.

HIGHER classes in any of the work will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in those studies may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent;

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges in Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the state.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second high school class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric This consists of a study of grammatical purity, choice and use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, history of the lives and times of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writing The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have two years' work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advance work exercises in sight-reading and Latin composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States history in the grammar school, a thorough foundation is laid in General history, English history, Civil government and Political economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of man ind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In chemistry students do practical work in the Laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Minerology are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

The aim in this study is to introduce the students to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School, Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six-inch telescope belongs to the Academy to aid in this study.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of Normal instruction during the Spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the Spring term has induced the board to add a Normal department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U S History	Psychology
Winter Term	2nd Grammar	2nd Arithmetic	2nd U S History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2nd Geography

In the Fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the winter term, both classes having started in the fall, will advance to the next work in the course. In the Spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Term	FALL.		WINTER.		SPRING.
	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2nd	Grammar 2nd	Method 2nd	Gram'r 1st	Gram'r 2nd	Method
	Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2nd	Arithmetic 2nd	Reading	Arith'tc 1st	Arith'tc 2nd	Reading
	U S History 1st	U S History 2nd	U S History 2nd	Physiology	U S Hist 1st	U S Hist 2nd	Phys'y
	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 1st	Geography 2nd	Psyc'gy	Geog'y 1st	Geog'y 2nd

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teachers knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from the Common Schools, who wish to get more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Pychology, Pedagogy and method will be given to make work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Pychology, and Method.

In the normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to work in the Normal department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic Course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof G. W. Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1896-7, is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal, has had the advantage of a course of instruction in Indiana University, is well experienced in Public and High School work, and also in Normal Institute work. He will be aided in this department by an able assistant so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar school, 75 cents per week. High school – first year, 20 cents per week per subject. High school – second year, 22½ cents per week per subject. High school – third year, 33½ cents per week per subject. Normal and Review classes. $1.00. Commercial department, $1.00.

Tuition is due at the opening of each term, and settlement must be made with either the treasurer or superintendent, before students may enter upon their term's work. No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well known historical event. Essays and declamation are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the Dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contain about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Societies and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them in their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantage of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3.00 a week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. Lectures on various subjects are given throughout the year by able lecturers. Arrangements are made by which such lectures are practically free to students.

GENERAL ITEMS

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class work is 95 per cent., with attendance, application and deportment.

equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier locality in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcomed to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institute in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influence, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

SPICELAND ACADEMY is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1870 but its history as a Friends school is much older than this, dating back for more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 176 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful and flourishing town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the L. E. & W. Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well fitted for the various sports engaged in by the students.

ENTRANCE.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly.

REMARKS ON THE COURSE OF STUDY.

HIGHER classes in any of the work will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in those studies may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and third year work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Students are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges in Indiana without examination.

The course of study in the Grammar School is in harmony with that adopted throughout the state.

At the close of the winter term the members of the second high school class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay, oration or declamation, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

ENGLISH.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of grammatical purity, choice and use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises in each. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

The work consists of a brief history of the rise and growth of the English language, history of the lives and times of the leading authors and a critical study of selections from their writings. The aim is to create a taste for good literature.

LATIN.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have three years' work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a considerable vocabulary. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advance work exercises in sight reading and Latin composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as of mental discipline.

HISTORY.

Besides the work in United States History in the Grammar School, a thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. This course will open up to the student the deeds of mankind in all ages in their struggle for rational freedom.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In chemistry students do practical work in the laboratory, which is well supplied with chemicals and apparatus for the analysis of unknown substances. Geology and Minerology are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are used as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

The aim in this study is to introduce the student to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School, Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in Geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six-inch telescope belongs to the Academy to aid in this study.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of Normal instruction during the Spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of its advantages.

The increasing demand for Normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the Spring term has induced the board to add a Normal department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U. S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2d Grammar	2d Arithmetic	2d U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2d Geography

In the Fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work During the winter term, both classes having started in the fall, will advance to the next work in the course. In the Spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year:

Fall Term		Winter Term		Spring Term.

Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 1st	Geography 2nd	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 2nd

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. It, however, is known that many high school graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from Common Schools, who wish to get more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to work in the Normal department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work and part Normal work will be conveniently accommodated.

Prof. G. W. Neet, the Superintendent of the Academy for 1897-8, is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal, has had the advantage of a course of instruction in Indiana University, is well experienced in Public and High School work, and also in Normal institute work. He will be aided in this department by an able assistant, so that we can confidently recommend the advantages which Spiceland offers to all students who desire to fit themselves for teaching.

RATES OF TUITION.

Grammar School, 75 cents per week. High School—first year, 20 cents per week per subject. High School—second year, 22½ cents per week per subject. High School—third year, 25 cents per week per subject. Normal and Review classes, $1.00. Commercial department, $1.00.

Tuition is due at opening of each term, and settlement must be made with either the treasurer or superintendent, before students may enter upon their term's work. No deduction will be made for absence after enrollment, except in cases of protracted ill health. In event of sickness notice must, in all cases, be given of the withdrawal of the pupil, as no deduction will be made until this is done.

LITERARY EXERCISES.

Besides the work of the Literary Society connected with the school, literary exercises will be expected of students in all grades both in class work and before the whole school. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. To this end, public exercises are occasionally held to commemorate some author or well known historical event. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

LIBRARIES.

Four sets of encyclopedias are in the school rooms, and these with the dictionaries and numerous reference books are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which contains about two thousand volumes; two of them belonging to the Literary Society and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

BOARDING.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them in their homes. It is the intention to offer students the advantages of a thorough education for a small outlay of money. The cost of boarding when everything is furnished is $3.00 a week. Rooms either furnished or unfurnished can be rented by those who board themselves, and the cost of living reduced to a small sum.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. Lectures on various subjects are given throughout the year by able lecturers. Arrangements are made by which such lectures are practically free to students.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade. Students whose daily class work is 95 per cent., with attendance, application and deportment equally good, may be excused from examination.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no healthier location in the state.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath and each maintains a Sabbath school. A society of Y. P. S. C. E. meets each Sabbath evening, and students are welcome to its meetings.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influence, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No student whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

DIPLOMA.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the president of the board of trustees.

SPICELAND ACADEMY.

HISTORY.

SPICELAND ACADEMY is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1870, but its history as a Friends school extends over a period of more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the board of trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and 189 have received diplomas from the Academy. More than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

LOCATION.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry county, on the Lake Erie and Western Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well adapted to athletic sports.

ENTRANCE.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly. Classes in Grammar School branches are maintained

HISTORY.

A thorough foundation is laid in General History, English History, Civil Government and Political Economy. It is the purpose of this course to reveal the various steps by which the great institutions have developed and grown from early times until the present.

SCIENCE.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of Natural sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In chemistry students do practical work in the laboratory, which is supplied with necessary chemicals and apparatus. Geology and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoology and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are used as much as possible.

MATHEMATICS.

The aim in this study is to introduce the student to mathamctical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School, Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in Geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six-inch telescope belongs to the Academy to aid in this study.

NORMAL DEPARTMENT.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of Normal instruction during the Spring term. A special Normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of this opportunity.

The increasing demand for Normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the Spring term has induced the board to add a Normal department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U.S. History	Psychology
Winter Term	2d Grammar	2d Arithmetic	2d U. S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term	Method	Reading	Physiology	2d Geography

In the Fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year. Classes will be provided for those who have already done one term's Normal work. During the Winter term, both classes having started in the fall, will advance to the next work in the course. In the Spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the Normal work, and for those who have done one term's work, and for those ready for the third term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the Spring term.

Inspection of the following schedule of classes will reveal the arrangement of the work throughout the year.

Fall Term		Winter Term		Spring Term.
Grammar 1st	Grammar 2d	Grammar 2d	Method 2d	Grammar 1st	Grammar 2d	Method
Arithmetic 1st	Arithmetic 2d	Arithmetic 2d	Reading	Arith. 1st	Arith. 2d	Reading

Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 1st	Geography 2d	Psychology	Geography 1st	Geography 2d

It is not the purpose of High Schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. However, it is known that many High School graduates desire to teach for a period of time. This course of Normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from Common Schools, who wish to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them, Sufficient Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make work characteristically professional. The purpose of this department cannot be better stated than by saying it is to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches, Psychology and Method.

In the Normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

The addition to work in the Normal department will in no way interfere with the regular Academic course. Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part Academic work and part Normal work will be accommodated.

LECTURES.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at a small expense. Lectures on various subjects are given throughout the year by able lecturers. Arrangements are made by which such lectures are practically free to students.

The following course was given this year under the management of teachers and students:

"Gumption;" Prof. Geo. Bass, Indianapolis,

"Art in Everyday Living," Prof. W. W. Black, University of Illinois.

Violin Recital. Prof. Christian Oelschlagel, Indianapolis.

"A Ramble Among Words," John E. Wiley, Anderson, Ind.

Readings of Original Poems. S. W. Gillilan, Richmond, Ind.

GENERAL ITEMS.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self respect and self control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade.

Spiceland Academy.

History.

SPICELAND ACADEMY is the oldest Academy in charge of Friends in Indiana. It was chartered as an Academy in 1870, but its history as a Friends' school extends over a period of more than sixty years. It is under the control of Spiceland Monthly Meeting, by which body the Board of Trustees is appointed. The teachers are selected by the Trustees. While the school is under denominational control, it is not sectarian in the least; its foundation rests upon Christian culture. The first class was graduated in 1870, and more than 3,000 students have received instruction in the school since its organization as an Academy.

Location.

Spiceland Academy is located in the beautiful town of Spiceland, Indiana, in the southern part of Henry County, on the Lake Erie and Western Railroad, two miles north of Dunreith, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The buildings are situated in the midst of a beautiful grove, adjoining which is a large campus, well adapted to athletic sports.

Entrance.

Students may enter at any time, but students coming from other schools are required to bring certificates stating their literary and moral standing. In the absence of approved certificate, examinations will be held and students classified accordingly. Classes in Grammar School branches are maintained as demand may justify, affording opportunity for preparatory work to students who may not be eligible to regular academic standing.

In general, graduates from the non-commissioned high schools of this county can enter the Academy with a credit of six terms' work. Three terms are usually required to complete the course.

The Course of Study.

The conditions for admission to the First Year class are the same as for entrance to the public high schools of this state.

The work for the entire course is briefly outlined as follows:

First Year.

Fall Term.

LATIN—First Latin Book, (Collar and Daniel).
ALGEBRA—To Simple Equations, (Wells).
ENGLISH HISTORY—(Montgomery).
*ENGLISH—Principles of Composition.

Winter Term.

LATIN—(Continued).
ALGEBRA—To Radicals.
HISTORY—Civil Government in the United States, (Fiske).
ENGLISH—(Continued).

Spring Term.

LATIN—Chiefly Grammar and Composition.
ALGEBRA—To Progressions.
ZOOLOGY—(Selected Text.
ENGLISH—Interpretation.

*Students regularly classified for English and Literature will be given class instruction in Elocution at least one a week through two terms. No extra charge will be made for this work.

Second Year.

Fall Term.

LATIN—Cæsar's Commentaries.
GEOMETRY—Two books, (Wentworth's).
PHYSICS—General Principles.
*ENGLISH—Original Composition.

Winter Term.

LATIN—Cæsar's Commentaries.
GEOMETRY—Three books.
HISTORY—Greece and Rome, (Myers).
ENGLISH—Composition.

Spring Term.

LATIN—Cæsar, with sight reading.
GEOMETRY—Solid Geometry, (Wentworth).
HISTORY Mediæval and Modern, (Myers).
ENGLISH—Composition and interpretation.

Third Year.

Fall Term.

LATIN—Ciero's Orations.
CHEMISTRY—(Cooley).
GEOLOGY—(Le Conte).
*RHETORIC—(Genung).

Winter Term.

LATIN—Virgil's Aeneid.
ASTRONOMY—(Todd).
POLITICAL ECONOMY—(Walker's Elementary Course.
LITERATURE—Study of English Classics.

Spring Term.

LATIN—Virgil continued.
PSYCHOLOGY—(Halleck.)
BOTANY—(Wood).
LITERATURE—History of English literary periods and writers.

*Students regularly classified for English and Literature will be given class instruction in Elocution at least one a week through two terms. No extra charge will be made for this work.

Higher classes in any of the work will be formed whenever there is sufficient demand, and tuition will be charged at the same rate as for a third year study. Satisfactory work in these studies may be substituted for work in the regular course at the discretion of the Superintendent.

The above course of study has been prepared with reference to the needs of those students who do not expect to pursue a college course, but desire to acquire a knowledge of those branches which will fit them for active life. SPECIAL ATTENTION, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN TO PREPARING STUDENTS FOR COLLEGE, and additional work in Latin, Mathematics and other subjects will be given when a sufficient number of pupils desire it. Graduates are urged to take a college course, and they will be admitted to any of the leading colleges in Indiana without examination.

At the close of the winter term the members of the Second Year class hold an exhibition, for which each member prepares an essay or oration, and the public speakers are chosen from the number.

Public exercises in declamation will be given by the First Year class at the end of the fall term.

English.

Besides the usual work in English Grammar, special attention is paid to English Composition, which is preparatory to the work in Rhetoric. This consists of a study of grammatical purity, choice and use of words, and kinds of composition, with practical exercises. English and American Literature receive careful attention.

Latin.

In order to receive a diploma a student must have done three years work in Latin, or, in special cases equivalents may be taken to fit the student for college. Thorough drill on the declension of nouns, adjectives and the conjugation of verbs is given, also on the application of the rules of construction and the acquiring of a vocabularly. The derivation of English words is studied, and in the advanced work exercises in sight reading and Latin composition are given. It is the purpose to invest all the work in Latin with a living spirit that it may be a means of genuine literary culture as well as mental discipline.

The "First Latin Book," by Collar & Daniel, is used as a text in the First Year class. Any of the standard editions of the Latin classics may be used in the subsequent work.

History.

A thorough foundation is laid in General History. English History. Civil Government and Political Economy. It is the purpose of this course to reveal the various steps by which the great institutions have developed and grown from early times until the present.

Science.

The Academy is supplied with sufficient apparatus to be a valuable aid in the study of the natural sciences. In Natural Philosophy the subject is illustrated by many simple pieces of apparatus, besides the air pump, electrical machine, batteries, etc. In chemistry students do practical work in the laboratory, which is supplied with necessary chemicals and apparatus. Geology and and Mineralogy are illustrated by a collection of more than twelve hundred specimens, presented to the Academy by the Alumni. In Zoölogy and Botany, animals and plants are studied from nature, and systems of classifications are made prominent. In all the sciences objects are used as much as possible.

Mathematics.

The aim in this study is to introduce the student to mathematical methods and to develop in him the power to reason clearly and accurately on any given problem. Algebra is studied throughout the first year of the High School, Geometry during the second year. A great deal of supplementary work is given in Algebra and original exercises are introduced as much as possible in Geometry. Astronomy is studied during the winter term of the third year. In this subject the work is largely descriptive. A good six-inch telescope belongs to the Academy.

Literary Exercises.

Literary exercises are required of students in all grades, both in class work and before the public. Care is used that students may learn the art of composition and public delivery. Essays and declamations are a part of the regular school work.

Oratory and Elocution.

There is a regularly organized Oratorical Association which is associated with similar organizations of students of Fairmount, Central and Westfield Academies in the Inter-Academic Oratorical Association of Indiana. In each school a contest is held in oratory and declamation. The successful contestant in each department represents his school in an Inter-Academic contest held in April. The contest in 1901 will be held at Spiceland.

Libraries.

Four sets of Encyclopedias are in the school-rooms, and these, with the dictionaries and numerous reference books, are for the free use of all. There are three libraries in connection with the school, which comprise about three thousand volumes, two of them belonging to the Literary Society and the other to the Academy Association. Additions are made each year.

Normal Department.

For several years past special arrangements have been made to give those students desiring to teach the opportunity of normal instruction during the spring term. A special normal instructor has been employed and many students of this and adjoining counties have availed themselves of this opportunity.

The increasing demand for normal work and for a more extended course than can be given during the spring term has induced the board to add a normal department that provides for a full year's work of three terms as follows:

Fall Term....	1st Grammar	1st Arithmetic	1st U.S. History	Physiology
Winter Term..	2d Grammar	2d Arithmetic	2d U.S. History	1st Geography
Spring Term...	Method	Reading	Psychology	2d Geography

In the fall term classes will be organized with the view of continuing the work throughout the year.

During the winter term those having started in the fall will advance to the next work in the course.

In the spring term classes will be provided for those beginning the normal work, and for those who have done one term's work. It is thus seen that all the legal branches, Psychology and Method may be had in the spring term.

It is not the purpose of high schools to give students a teacher's knowledge of the legal branches. However, it is known that many high school graduates desire to teach. This course of normal work is especially fitted for this class of students, and for students having graduated from common schools, who wish to get a more comprehensive knowledge of the legal branches, and learn correct methods of teaching them. Psychology, Pedagogy and Method will be given to make work characteristically professional.

In the normal course it is not intended to conduct a scheme of cramming for examination, but it is our intention to help teachers in their schools quite as much as to aid them to get licenses.

Work will be so arranged that students who desire to take part academic work and part normal work will be accommodated.

General Items.

The government of the school is based upon the idea that manhood is more than scholarship, that self-respect and self-control on the part of the student are important factors in the formation of character. Greater stress is laid upon the thoroughness of instruction and accuracy of knowledge than upon rapidity of advancement.

A daily class record of the work of each pupil is kept. This record and the final examination determine the recorded grade.

For many years the health of students has been uniformly good. There is probably no better location in the state in this respect.

The Friends and Methodists both hold religious services on the Sabbath and each maintains a Sabbath-school. Meetings of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor and the Epworth League are held every Sabbath evening, and students are welcome to their meetings and membership.

A sufficient number of teachers is constantly employed, so that large classes may be avoided, and students may receive personal attention during the recitation.

Expenses are as low as at any other school affording equal advantages.

The managers of the school are very careful to make this an institution in which students who are away from home and its restraints, will be surrounded by good, moral influences, and in this they have the co-operation of the citizens of the village.

There are no beer, liquor or billiard saloons in the village.

No students whose influence is known to have a corrupting tendency will be retained in the school.

Diploma.

Students whose conduct is exemplary, and who complete the course of study and prepare and deliver a suitable literary production, will be furnished a diploma, signed by the instructors and the President of the Board of Trustees.

Lectures.

Students have the opportunity to hear good lectures at small expense. Addresses on various subjects are given during the year by able speakers.

The following lectures and entertainments that are specially worthy of mention were given this year:

"Three Months in the Orient," by Prof. L. J. Rettger, State Normal School.

"German University Life," Prof. Sherman Davis, Indiana University.

"How to Make the Most of Life," L. H. Jones, Superintendent of Schools, Cleveland, Ohio.

Concert by the Juanita Glee Club, of Chicago.

Concert of the Chicago Glee Club.

Expenses.

Rates of Tuition.

Grammar School, . .	four studies,	75	cents	per	week
First Year Academic,	for each study,	20	"	"	"
Second Year Academic,	" " "	22½	"	"	"
Third Year Academic,	" " "	25	"	"	"
Normal Classes,	" " "	25	"	"	"

Students who enter at irregular times will be charged full tuition for the term in case they complete the term's work in such manner as to receive credit toward the diploma.

Normal students and others who may not expect to earn credit in the regular course will be charged only for the time of actual enrollment in classes.

Occasionally those who are especially strong are permitted to earn credits by outside study under the supervision of the teachers. For such credits as these one-half the regular tuition will be charged.

Tuition is due at the opening of each term and settlement should be made with the Superintendent or the Treasurer of the Board of Trustees.

Boarding.

The citizens of Spiceland have always given the students a hearty welcome by receiving them into their homes. The cost of boarding and rooms in private families where everything is furnished can be had for $2.50 to $3.00 a week. Rooms both furnished and unfurnished can be had for from 25 to 50 cents a week and table board of excellent quality at the rate of $1.50 for the full week.

Thus persons who may live near enough to go home at the end of each week and who wish to economize may reduce the cost of living to a very small sum.

The following schedule gives a reliable estimate of the cost of a year at Spiceland Academy:

	High.		Low.
Board, 40 weeks,	$100 00		$40 00	(Short Week)
Room Rent,	20 00		20 00
Tuition,	40 00	(Senior Class)	32 00	(First Year Class
Books,	12 00		5 00
Total,	$172 00		$97 00
